

BOLD PURSUITS

EMORY UNIVERSITY

Do more than just major in something

Here students pursue their interests with a boldness that shows they're not just learning for today. They take our vibrant community, innovative teaching, and out-of-class experience, and run with it. Explore what inspires you and make an impact with what you learn—at Emory and beyond.

Study with students who aren't like you

Our students come from all 50 states and more than 100 nations, and bring more backgrounds, interests, and ideas than you'd ever think possible. You'll learn something new just walking through your residence hall.

Get your start in the best city

In addition to fun and adventure, in Atlanta, you'll also find experience that works. Our busy, global city has hundreds of businesses, nonprofits, and labs, giving you many ways to intern, research, and volunteer.

Choose from two liberal arts colleges—Emory College and Oxford College

Try learning for real life

You (and future you) will benefit from real-world learning like our interdisciplinary majors, global perspectives, and roll-up-your-sleeves experience. You'll gain the tools you need to make your impact.

Learn from the ones who wrote the book on it

Our professors are leading scholars and scientists who enjoy teaching undergraduates. They'll figure out what makes you tick and help you do it even better.

Use your powers for good

At Emory, our graduates are known for doing well and doing good. You'll be challenged and inspired, and you'll go on to share your ideas with the world.

Emory College: big-city verve

Emory College is a challenging, liberal arts experience in a research-university setting. Professors are the leading scholars in their fields, and learning is enriched by the extensive research resources of the university.

After sophomore year, Emory College students can

- stay at Emory College to earn a BA or BS
- apply to Emory's Goizueta Business School to earn a BBA
- transfer to Emory's School of Nursing to earn a BSN

Living at Emory College

- Located in a historic neighborhood near downtown Atlanta, so it's easy for Emory students to gain experience and have fun in the city.
- Two-thirds of students live on campus, making our community close, connected, and active.
- New freshman living complex and themed communities build friendships from day one.
- The university's seven graduate and professional schools, its hospital, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are all just a short walk from each other.

What you might not know about Emory College

- We've been green for decades: LEED construction, energy and water conservation, sustainable food plans, eco-curriculum, and alternatively fueled shuttles.
- Founded at Emory: Campus MovieFest, now the world's largest student film festival.
- Our interdisciplinary majors are designed to reflect thinking and problem solving in the real world.
- Most popular tradition: Wonderful Wednesdays, when everyone gathers in the center of campus to celebrate and show school spirit.
- Campus crossroads: the DUC, where you can grab a bite and usually bump into someone you know.
- Official mascot: Swoop, an eagle.

Oxford College: small-college vibe

Oxford College is a challenging, small liberal arts college experience. Professors are committed to the art of teaching and reaching students. Students benefit from early opportunities for student leadership.

After sophomore year, Oxford College students can

- continue at Emory College to earn a BA or BS
- apply to Emory's Goizueta Business School to earn a BBA
- transfer to Emory's School of Nursing to earn a BSN

Living at Oxford College

- Located on our original campus in Oxford, Georgia, a small town 38 miles from Atlanta.
- Its tree-filled campus circles a Quad with historic buildings.
- Students love its close-knit community of freshmen and sophomores only.
- Each residence hall is less than a five-minute walk to classes, the library, and the dining hall.
- Everyone—professors and students alike—eats at Lil's, the campus dining complex.

What you might not know about Oxford College

- Leadership is our middle name: our students lead and gain experience beginning in their first semester on campus.
- Recent campus addition: an organic farm that provides hands-on learning experience as well as food for our dining hall and the local community.
- Most popular tradition: Pre-Finals Pancake Dinner, served by faculty and staff.
- You'll do more than take notes: in our Ways of Inquiry classes, learning is driven by questions; Theory-Practice/Service Learning classes are integrated with service.
- Located close to Covington, Georgia, a small town with a trendy mix of traditional and new. And many agree: film crews are a common sight in Covington.
- Official mascot: Screech, an eagle.

Evaluating your application

At Oxford and Emory, our application process is holistic. All of your information together gives us an accurate picture of who you are and whether or not Emory or Oxford will be a good fit for you. The Admission Committees pay closest attention to:

- the rigor of your high school curriculum within the context of your school
- a solid GPA, usually an A-/B+ average
- test scores, recommendations, and essays
- leadership and/or a commitment to extracurriculars

Merit scholarships and scholars programs

Emory College, Oxford College, and Goizueta Business School offer partial to full merit-based scholarships and dedicated scholars programming to incoming first-year students. To be considered, students must submit a completed application by the Emory University Scholars Selection deadline of November 15. All applicants to Emory University also will be automatically considered for additional merit-based scholarships not affiliated with these scholar programs. For further information, please visit apply.emory.edu/merit.

Consider financial aid

Emory University is committed to meet 100 percent of the full financial need of all domestic students accepted to Emory and Oxford Colleges. Our multifaceted approach includes need-based financial aid, merit-based scholarships, and programs like QuestBridge, making an Emory education accessible to all.
